

Get a Handle on Budgets without Breaking the Bank

If you're looking to gain better cost control and improve financial accountability, let us do for you what we did for Yates Construction, an ENR Top 30 Company.

We helped Yates integrate Viewpoint Vista accounting and ERP software with ProjectSight project management (PM) software. Our solution centers on configuration -- changing workflows and business processes -- instead of on expensive, time-consuming coding or custom development.

As a result of the integration, we've eliminated Yates's need for manual, error-prone duplicate data entry. We've also helped to increase accountability within the organization. That's because the accounting system has become "the source of truth" due to its integration with the PM system, giving PM teams real-time access to where numbers come from so they can manage budgets most efficiently.

David Olivet, Yates's Manager of Software Development told us that he "loves having an engine that I know is just going to process this stuff and it works." He also appreciates that our integration allows him and his team to modify workflows as necessary and focus on higher-value projects.
